Dedication

We, the Seniors of 1964, dedicate this annual to the teachers and personnel who have guided us through our final year of high school. Though we did our best to torment them and to make their jobs hard, they would weather the storm and appear as rainbows the next day. We cannot show our gratitude full enough to satisfy ourselves, so, all we can do is give them a heartfelt, "Thank you." We especially wish to thank Mrs. Hunter, our sponsor for three years.

Administration

Our township trustee, Bill Sanders, submits a list of rules to our principal, Gerald French, while the school secretary, Eleanor Fisk, takes notes in the newly decorated office.

What would county schools do without the services of this trio of ladies who are all concerned with our best interests and welfare. From l. to r., June Anderson, county secretary; Margaret Lewis, county nurse; Marie Freeman, county attendance officer.

Activities

Band

The Ridgeville Band is composed of 34 members, directed by Mr. Glen Priest. We appreciated very greatly their fine performance at some of our basketball games this year.

Twirlers

"Our twirlers" are just the greatest and we love them dearly.

Chorus

"A#" group is our Chorus

Jr. Band

Our Junior Band,
also directed by Mr. Priest, is very promising.

Prophecy

Welcome to the dark, unfathomable depths of knowledge not usually revealed to mere mortals. I am Madame Zambina and in the deep mysterious contents of my knowing crystal ball I will disclose the future of the young men and women graduating from a small school in Ridgeville, Indiana. Little do they know of their future and what it holds in store for them, but Madame Zambina and her crystal ball will now inform you of their wondrous future.

My goodness! My eyes must be failing me, that looks like Jerry Atkinson and what in the world is he doing? Oh, yes, he is the nation's greatest ballet dancer. Of course he always was so graceful I should have known he'd be a dancer.

Now, as I peer into the interminable depths of my crystal ball, I see Arthur Baker defending his country by serving in the National Guard. What do we have to fear from the Pygmies of Africa with Art zipping up and down the coastline on his Wheaties fed sea horse.

Master Jan Leroy Chalfant, sounds rather distinguished, doesn't it? He has completely changed the world's idea on science by revolutionizing the making of a better butter knife. Yes, this once bold young man is now the shyest scientist in the solar system.

Ah-ah, here is a member of the fairer sex. She, by investing her once meager savings in a project to exterminate all 6-toed, 3-legged frogs, has turned this into a magnificent empire. Watch this young miss, Judy Chalfant.

Here we have the most notorious, bothersome, wackiest and the last of the Chalfants, Linda. She came up with some of the outrageous ideas ever conjured in a slightly human mind. As you may well know she is now operating a huge hospital for the 5-headed sparrow.

That handsome, curly headed guy must be John Fisk. He is going to take Elvis Presley's place in the teen-ager's hearts. The only difference is he is using a harp instead of a guitar! Can't you picture him with an angelic grin?

Shirley Frazee is now singing with the Metropolitan Opera. Even in school she was always so noisy the teachers were always telling her to lower her voice. She can even shatter windows.

Here comes an intelligent looking man, Arvin French. He teaches U. S. History at I. U. It seemed he was the only Senior who really understood history, even though he disguised it by sleeping through class.

Using my great powers of perception, I observe Charlotte Goodhew assisting her dad on "The Case of the Unstolen Stolen Apples." She can talk the ears off an earless snake, and is the most inquisitive person ever to be born on this great earth.

Evan Hale is sure going to be someone in a few years. He is going to be with the New York Yankees. He will be the first boy to be kicked off a ball field for kicking a water cooler.

I can't tell too much about Sherry Hardwick except that she will join the mobsters in New York. "Say, like dad, buzz down to my pad and we'll make, whoopee." "Like you dig me?"

There's that big strong man Bob Himes, you know he is the world's heavyweight champion. He is well-known for his famous words "Getcha, I will."

Lookie, lookie! I see Judy May ordering more tin from Tibet. You know she has several mines there. They roofed the thatched huts of Ding Dang Don and Dong Dang Ding, the rice merchants of China.

Francis Mock has become a great poet. Some of his works are "Its Tulip Time in Shedville," and "Tiptoeing Through a Soggy Pigpen."

Janice Morrical will become a lawyer in a few years. She always did well in her classes. She and Mr. Van Dyke always did get along very nicely.

Gilbert Orr will discover a great cigarette which will leave no smoky smell on the breath. There won't even be any smoke; there isn't even a cigarette.

Mike Seyler! In a place like that! See the women all gathered around him. See, they are asking him for something. Mike is one of the dress designers for women's wear.

Albert Shauver, a car insurance salesman? He rolled several cars in his high school career. Maybe he decided his car insurance would be cheaper if he opened such a firm himself.

Tom Shultz will completely undergo a personality change. He will be the most pious, religious, and reserved person in the world.

The speed-loving Charlie Siegler will tear holy heck out of the roads in and around this burg and on the super-strong glass track at Shake-Rag.

Miss Janet Smith will marry an acorn tycoon that will perfect the method of processing acorns into peanut butter. Maxie's peanut butter will greatly aid science in rocket fuel.

Marcia Smith, my crystal ball tells me, will be the most outstanding all-around woman athlete the United States will ever produce. She boxes, wrestles, plays tennis, and even excels at tiddley-winks.

Linda Tittle will surely be appreciated through the ages because she will invent a pill that will make the teachers disappear. Pills for pills, no?

There's Linda Tolbert. She will live in Hawaii and teach the "hula!" As Ernest I. Spillers once said, "Rotate your crops often." Good for a chicken farmer isn't he?

Larry Weekley will grow a staggering bear and trade in his car for a horse and buggy. He and Spencer Thornburg will be partners in the largest lumber mill in the U. S.

Can You Imagine

1. Jerry Atkinson walking to school alone?
2. Jan Chalfant going with a red-headed girl?
3. Judy Chalfant being six feet tall and weighing one hundred pounds?
4. Linda Chalfant not going steady?
5. John Fisk being bald headed?
6. Shirley Frazee causing a disturbance?
7. Arvin French being active?
8. Charlotte Goodhew being followed by five red-headed kids?
9. Sherry Hardwick being five feet tall and weighing ninety-five pounds?
10. Bob Himes being the world's champion wrestler?
11. Judie May going with one boy at a time?
12. Janice Morrical being a stand-in for Marilyn Monroe?
13. Mike Seyler not driving the "Easter Egg"?
14. Janet Smith throwing paper wads?
15. Linda Tittle being short and fat?
16. Linda Tolbert being a New York model?
17. Larry Weekley with a crew cut?
18. George Van Dyke sitting on a chair?
19. The senior boys acting like seniors?
20. Kay Flatter walking to school without Joe Cox?
21. Judy Cope going steady with Colby?
22. The 8th grade not getting into trouble?

I Wonder Why

1. Art Baker quit going to Deerfield?
2. Evan Hale hangs around the Lumber Yard all the time?
3. Francis Mock's car is always down at Hancock's?
4. Gib Orr keeps going back to Selma?
5. Albert Shauver doesn't drive a car over two months?
6. Tom Shultz has a tractor motor in his '49 Chevey?
7. Charlie Siegler wants to be a beatnik?
8. Marcia Smith likes red convertibles?
9. They call Connie Rutherford "Dutch"?
10. Certain senior girls work harder at getting out of class than on their work?
11. G. F. refers to the senior class as "The Class," could it be that it is true?

Senior Class Play

Our Senior Class Play "Alice Sit-By-The-Fire," was a tremendous success. The cast included: Tatum, John Fisk; Nurse, Judie May; Cosmo, Larry Weekley; Amy, Sherry Hardwick; Col. Grey, Jan Chalfant; Fanny, Marcia Smith; Ginevra, Judy Chalfant; Richardson, Janet Smith; Alice, Linda Chalfant; and Mr. Van Dyke, director.

Junior-Senior Banquet

We wish to thank the Juniors for the delicious banquet they served to us before the prom.

Baccalaureate and Commencement

Rev. Charles Rutherford challenged us to meet the world gracefully in his Baccalaureate speech on May 15.

John Emens, President of Ball State, gave our Commencement address, our final speech at Ridgeville High School.

Junior-Senior Prom

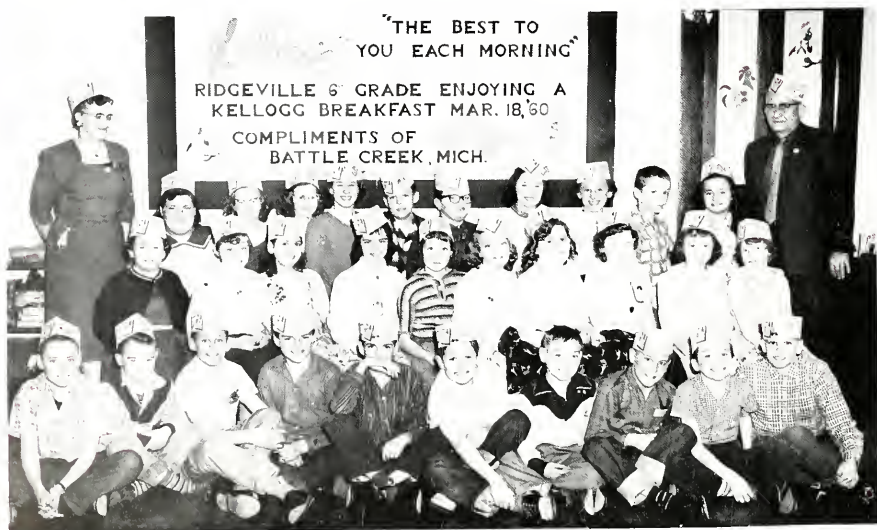

We danced to the music of Maner Smithson and his band.

1960 Prom Queen, Marcia Smith, leads the Grand March. Members of her court are Linda Chalfant, Janet Smith, Lana Chalfant, Karen Upchurch, and Janice Hancock.

The Sophomore Class gave a record hop in which all proceeds were donated for a new amplifier. Bill Craig, Jr. was the disc jockey.

"The Best To You Each Morning" says the Kellogg Breakfast Foods Company as they sponsored a delicious breakfast for our Sixth Grade.
